LEPHONE ORDINANCE

SED BY CITY COUNCIL TUESDAY.

CUMBERLAND COMPANY

Purchase Franchise for Marion Exchange... Work Will Be Rushed.

the City Council meeting Tuesday evening an ordinance (published here in this issue) was passed by the Cumberland Telephone Company, whose representatives drafted the ordinance in accordance with the ideas and stipulations of members of the council who favored its passage.

The Cumberland's representatives attained several meetings of council recently, and one special three weeks ago, held for the purpose of giving a full hearing to appeal for franchise ordinance drawn in such manner that it would be acceptable to them as far as possible.

Council has worked faithfully on the subject, and have secured valuable concessions before final action was taken.

Plans were exhibited to the members of the Council showing that 27 sets have been secured for telephones in the houses and places of business at Tolu. An exchange will be ready there as soon as 100 contracts have been signed.

Company has also secured 20 contracts for telephones at Dycusburg, or within one of the required four for an exchange at that points within Crittenden county, connected through the Marion Exchange, will be on the list, and also Salina, at which the company has franchises. An exchange will be installed, and will probably be ready for use as soon as the Marion Exchange.

A company will begin work on Marion Exchange immediately the sale of franchise is ratified by City Council, which action no doubt be taken at its next regular meeting.

Exchange will be ready for use in plenty days after purchase franchise.

The following resolutions were offered and passed unanimously:

Resolved, That the City of Evansville, through its Fire Department, upon the arrival of disastrous fire in our city on March 28, 1905, sent a fire department to help us.

And drew on a special train to do in our extremity, without cost for their services, and

Resolved, That the Illinois Central Railroad Company has made no offer for its services in furnishing a special train for said purpose, and

Resolved, We, as the City Council, to express our appreciation of their services,

therefore resolved, that we, as the City Council of Marion, Ky., do express our heartfelt thanks to the City of Evansville, and especially the members of its department, who came to our aid, Chief Grant, Capt. Oughton, Capt. Attinger, and

John Dippel, Wm. Sartore, Williams, Frank Miller, M. T. Hansen, W. J. Hite, W. Schenck and W. H. Shoemaker. And we do rejoice in this resolution adopted,

Resolved, That a special copy of our record book be set for the recording of these resolutions, and that copies be sent to the State Senator, H. J.

ONE WEEK LATER.

(M. E. L.)

The Press is out. The Record's fire number is still selling at 5c per copy. Everyone wants a copy to keep as a souvenir, or to send to their friends. Our illustrated edition of last week is also in good demand. We have a supply of extra copies in anticipation of the wants of all who are interested in Marion.

Our fire write-up was copied verbatim—typographical errors and all—in the Press last week. Best to be bad, price or no price. Even "Peek's Bad Boy" was not omitted. This reminds us, —

The local correspondent of the Courier-Journal, says the Press and Marion Star are considering plans for a cream pressed brick building, extending from Main street to the postoffice, on Carlisle street. It was also announced sometime ago that the Electric Light Co. and either the Illinois Central or Standard Oil Co. would build a park. We hope both of these dreams may become realities, but it sounds to us just a little like the old partnership of "Myself and God." Who is the Courier-Journal's local correspondent, anyway?

It is "rumored" that the Record has purchased a lot on Carlisle street, just east of the postoffice site, and will build a modest, unpretentious, one story building, man power, beat and editorial staff junior service. This building proposition probably depends on mustering together sufficient funds for the purpose.

The debris is being rapidly removed and business is assuming a normal condition. That our little city is equal to the occasion has never been in doubt, and that one and all will see the day when they can see and feel that they have been more benefited than otherwise by the great fire in being accepted by many for seeing citizens as a possibility. With the New Marion will come new enterprises, new opportunities, new ideas and new conditions in general. The sting of loss will be effaced by time, and the thrill of greater success will be implanted in its stead.

The merchants have many odd articles, unmade shoes, one-legged pants, tailless coats, etc., they will sell cheap to the persons holding the missing remnants. Most of these remnants were "missed" the night of the fire, but no questions will be asked of inquirers for prices on these odds and ends.

W. H. Hite, tanner, is doing business in his stable at home.—Crittenden Press, under title, "Where to Find Them."

In the past journalism established the unwritten rule that the daily routine events of a man's life was exempt from publication among the personal happenings of the day. Of course a man has the right to transact his own business in his own stable without newspapers throwing the goss of the public in upon him. Now Mr. J. M. Friedman, of the firm of Williams & Freeman, who are at present using the barn of W. H. Yandell for a feed store, says that it is much more unusual, and even worse, to have to sell hay, corn and oats out of another man's stable.

Crittenden Springs.

Crittenden Springs, the well-known summer resort located about five miles from this city will be opened to the pleasure of health seekers and the public in general about the first of June. The hotel will be under the management and direction of Jno. W. Wilson, of this city, who cannot be surpassed as a genial, sympathetic host, and whole one of our most public spirited citizens. A few years ago when the Crittenden Springs hotel enjoyed an unusual patronage and entertained hundreds of guests it was under the direction of Mr. Wilson.

The groom is the brother of Jno. B. Paris, school superintendent of this county, and who was nominated in the recent primary for re-election. He is the son of the popular miller, J. W. Paris, of Tolu, and is a young man of many good qualities.

The bride is popular and has scores of friends that will join with the Record in wishing the happy couple long, prosperous and happy wedlock.

CENTENNIAL MEETING

OF OLD SALEM BAPTIST CHURCH.

SOME PECULIAR MODES

In Slavery Time.—An Interesting Program Announced.

On the fifth Sunday in April the old Salem Baptist church in Livingston county will be one hundred years old and centennial services will be conducted to commemorate the event. The old records of the organization are intact and will be exhibited at the centennial services. These records are at present in the hands of Rev. J. S. Henry, of this city, who is preparing an essay on the past membership of the church from a historical standpoint.

To the present generation the old records of this church reveal customs that are strikingly odd and entirely unknown in church organizations of to-day. In that day the colored people, all of whom were slaves, confessed Christ and were united with the church to which their masters belonged, and in spiritual matters they were considered the equal of their masters. One or more instances are on record in the history of this church where a white person had injured a colored person unwittingly for which that person was either expelled from the church, or required to make public acknowledgements of the wrongs given the church.

The program that will be rendered on Friday, Saturday and Sunday of the centennial gathering follows:

Program of Ministers' and Members' meeting to be held with old Salem church, Livingston county, on Friday and Saturday before the tenth Sunday in April:

1. Introductory Sermon—E. B. Blackburn, E. M. Eaton.

2. Some Suggestive Methods of Bible Study—T. A. Conway.

3. What Should we Contribute to Missions—M. E. Miller.

5. How to Increase the Spirituality of Church Members—J. S. Henry.

6. The Importance of Giving Serious Attention to Church Discipline—R. A. La Rue.

Hines-Babb Co.

C. H. Hines, a former salesman of the Marion Hardware Co., and C. R. Babb, of Saleta, have purchased the salvage of the Marion Hardware Co., left from the recent fire and will enter the hardware business under the firm name of Hines-Babb Co. They will close out all the goods of the former company that were damaged in the fire at bargain prices and will buy new goods from time to time. As soon as the burned district is rebuilt this firm will occupy either the old stand or another building in the center of the city's busiest district. At present their headquarters are in the barn near the Marion Graded School building. These men are upright and energetic and we bespeak for them a successful business career.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

"No Sir! You cannot palm off any substitutes on me. I believe in August Flower. I was a boy, and I'll have no other."

Forty million bottles of August Flower sold in the United States alone since its introduction! And the demand for it is still growing. Isn't that a fine showing of success? Don't it prove that August Flower has had untiring success to the cure of indigestion and dyspepsia—the worst enemies of health and happiness?

Does it not afford the best evidence that August Flower is a sure specific for all stomach and intestinal disorders?—that it is the best of all liver regulators?

August Flower has a matchless record of over 35 years in curing the ailing millions of these distressing complaints.

UNDER ONE BANNER.

The People's Party will live in history as long as men have interest in political history, even if it never wins another political victory, and it will live for this reason: When the progress of invention and science was producing new economic conditions everywhere, when the old ways and the old statesmanship were failing to meet the wants of mankind, when men saw before them only anarchy or absolutism, when degeneration, moral and physical, was impending and no man pointed to a day of escape. Populism pointed out a way, and the only way. Little by little the principles of Populism were adopted. First one city and then another, one State and then another, some in the East and some in the West, adopted some of the principles of Populism. They did it because there was no other way of salvation. The cities adopted municipal ownership of city utilities, and the States put into practice initiative and referendum. Day by day the work goes on. The advocacy of government ownership of railroads spread with astonishing rapidity.

The land question will press us hard for solution in a few years as public ownership of city utilities does now, and the money question will some of these days spring into prominence and press upon the public welfare with such overwhelming power that it will have to be settled. In that day the Populist monetary principles will have to be adopted.

Let the gold mines fail off in production to any great amount for a year or two and the money question will be on us again. In the next few years the whole civilized world will have to adopt Populist principles. There is no other way.

While the Populists have certainly given to the world a theory of government and the only theory that is adopted to modern conditions, they have not evolved any politician capable of marching the voters under its banner, but such a man may appear at any time. Without any doubt, ninety-nine men out of every one hundred in the United States are Populists. In fact, all men are except those who accumulate wealth by pinching upon the inhabitants of the nation.

Ask any man if he does not want a money that every dollar is as good as every other dollar and he will say yes. Ask him if he does not believe that land is the heritage of the people and that it should not be monopolized for the benefit of the few, and he will say yes. Ask him if he doesn't think that the alien ownership of land should be prohibited and he will say yes. Ask him if he does not believe in the public ownership of everything where competition is impossible, and he will say yes.

When and where the master leader will appear who will gather under one banner this overwhelming majority of the people and get them to vote one ticket we do not know. It is altogether probable that he will appear in every great crisis of man in modern times. At the critical moment the leader did appear, and we believe within the next three years such a man will loom up and be recognized by all who love good government. He may be some man hitherto prominent, or some one who has been a silent student of the affairs of men.

But whether such a man appears or not within the Populist ranks one thing is certain. The world is going to adopt Populist principles, and the men who gave Populism to the world will be the heroes of the future, just as men are still heroes who help to establish individual liberty in the world and overthrow the doctrine of the divine rights of kings. BULLETIN ISSUED BY WEATHER BUREAU

ARM Work Well Up And General Good Condition Is Shown.

The first weekly climate and crop bulletin of this year was issued yesterday from the state weather bureau, showing that the past week was suited to farm work, which is in advance to what it was at this last year. The cool weather led to retard the growth of some, however. There was some rain during the week, and snow turtles generally reported April 6. frosts were reported, but none did serious damage.

regarding to various crops the bulletins say:

Corn is looking well, in general good condition, and has a good yield. Heavily reported working some damage in the western portion of the state. Tobacco fields are doing finely and are plenty of good plants. Land for corn is progressing and some corn has been planted, have been pretty well sown and coverage was put in. Grasses, weeds and pastures are in splendid condition. Fruit trees are in full bloom and are unusually heavy blossoming. The prospect for a large crop is promising, there being no damage by the frost, which peach blossoms suffered in some to a great extent.

Peaches were also somewhat winter-killed."

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Itsea James, wife of John James, died at her home in East Marion, Monday, April 3rd, 1905, after a month's illness of cancer. She bore her afflictions and sorrows with the utmost patience, scarcely a murmur before her death.

Before her death she talked a great deal of how sweet the relief would be from her pain and suffering and long confinement to the sick bed.

The services were held at the Cumberland Presbyterian church, where she was a member, on Tuesday evening.

Her facial features bore the appearance of final happiness.

ZINC HOLDS STEADY, BUT LEAD ADVANCED

Gold Buying in Joplin Declining Forerunner to Higher Market.

Mo., April 9.—The biggest zinc ore in the Joplin district during the past week was $45 per ton, the same as the preceding week. The smelt basis was strong, ranging from $39 to $41 per ton. Zinc, however, did not decline, but showed some gain, but placed some lead for unmined ore, portmanteau not infrequently tumulous to zinc prices, failed to prove a durable holding price. Very little was purchased during the week, April 1 on a gill basis, at week now 500 to 800. At a settlement on this, although the sales were unusually heavy during the week, the market was decreased 400 tons and 371 tons of lead, being $34,095 less than a week.

brought $58 per ton all week, but a few bins of this ore cost 60 cents per ton in city camp. A year ago the price for zinc ore was red lead $60 per ton.

The way things point now there are going to be other things "ditched" during Teddy's administration besides the Panama canal.

When Theodore Roosevelt completes his bust of the trusts what will the Democrats put their trust in? But the headquarters of the G. O. P. is a veritable hot house of veritable ingenuity. What they lack in filling up their platform in real issues they will fill up with dreams; namely, all.

STOPS STEMMING

FOR ENGLISH MARKETS IN KENTUCKY.

Announced There Will Be No Alteration in the Schedule.

A cable message was received in Louisville from London yesterday announcing that there would be no alteration in the tobacco duty, says the Courier-Journal. This message followed the reading of the budget. This announcement is of particular interest to Kentucky, since thousands of pounds of tobacco have been shipped to England last year. When the advance of three cents was made on strips about a year ago a rebate was allowed on tobacco already in England. Other concessions were hoped for so that stripping could be continued in this country, but the announcement yesterday that there would be no change in the schedule means that stemming for the English market is a thing of the past in Kentucky.

Equalization Board.

The state board of equalization meets today at Frankfort for the purpose of taking preliminary action as to the committee of the First appellate district. Ten days' notice will be given counties, which must be raised or dates fixed for rehearing should their officials desire it.

This district is composed of McCracken, Bellard, Carlisle, Calloway, Caldwell, Christian, Crittenden, Graves, Illegan, Henderson, Hopkins, Livingston, Lyon, Marshall, Union and Webster.

Louisville Races.

The dates for the running of the important stake events at Churchill Downs at Louisville this spring have nearly all been decided upon. The Kentucky Derby will be run on the opening day, Wednesday, May 10.

The Clark handicap will be decided on Saturday, May 13, and on Saturday, May 20, the Nursery Stakes will be run. On that afternoon the cup race for gentlemen riders will also be on the program. The Kentucky Oaks will be decided on Saturday, May 27.

Important Conventions.

The 10th annual convention of the Kentucky Sunday School Association will be held at Somerset, June 7, 8, 9. An exceedingly strong and interesting program is being prepared. Dr. Charles Roads, of Philadelphia, Rev. E. W. Halpenny, of Indianapolis, and Mr. W. C. Shafer, of Fairmont, West Virginia, are to be the visiting speakers. Each is the general secretary of his state, and they will come to us with well-matured plans. Every school in the state is entitled to representation, and a large attendance is expected.

The 11th International Sunday School Convention meets at Toronto, Canada, June 23-27. About 75 persons have signified their intention of going. This convention will mark an epoch in the Sunday School history of America. For programs or other information regarding either of these conventions, address the State General Secretary, E. A. Fox, 19 Lexington Trust Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

Agreement.

(Special to New Era.)

CARE FOR YOUR GLOVES.

A LITTLE THOUGHTFULNESS WILL KEEP THEM FRESH A LONG WHILE.

"Do you realize that a little thoughtfulness will keep your gloves fresh just twice as long?"

If you find a stain on your new glove clean it just as soon as you can. Do not let it dry in and become a permanent disfigurement. Dip a toothbrush in gasoline and rub the glove until clean, drying afterward on a bath towel or piece of flannel.

A white glove should never be worn more than once without cleaning. If it is cleaned promptly after each wearing it can be used indefinitely, as the spots do not become set.

Gloves can be saved in many little ways and their term of usefulness prolonged. The handle of a chisel or knife will wear a glove white, so it should be carried on the wrist, and the tidy girl uses her handkerchief to save her gloves, particularly when boarding a car, carrying an umbrella or drinking a glass of soda water or chocolate at a drug store.

In large cities drivers will clean gloves in twenty-four hours for 10 cents a pair, so there is no excuse for soiled gloves.

The tidy girl always washes her own silk and lace gloves in summer and takes particular pride in her washable white kids. These gloves are both practical and convenient and may be worn for a considerable length of time with careful handling in their laundering. They should be washed on the hands in tepid water and afterward rinsed in several clear tepid waters while still on the hand. Do not pass the soap through the hands, but always use the sudsed water. A drop or two of ammonia in the second and last rinsing waters will prevent the gloves from becoming yellow. These washable gloves should be allowed to dry on the hands. If removed while only partly dry they will stretch out of shape. Boston Traveler.

AN ARTISTIC TRIUMPH.

For the lucky bride who has a den or boudoir in her new home this curtain was designed to create the effect of an entrance to a rose bower. The two centerpieces of the curtain were

CURTAIN FOR BOWER DOORWAY.

Unusual flower curtains, as may be easily seen. Then a border was made of white embroidery stenciled with green water color to form a lattice-work like that often seen in a garden. From some odd pieces of the cretonne the flower design was carefully cut out and appliqued on the border like a running rose vine creeping through a lattice. One's imagination can easily picture the charming effect of such a curtain, with its deep colored roses against the green and white lattice, possibly hung in a doorway of white woodwork. Ladies' Home Journal.

How to Distress Beef.

Meat, to be wholesome, must come from a healthy animal; to be nutritious, from a well-nourished one. Much used meat is also much food material, making rich, juicy meat. This is, however, tougher than that of pigs less used because the connective tissue and fiber increase as well as the contents of the muscle fibers. The lean of good beef is firm, elastic and, when cut out, purple-red, the surface becoming bright red and moist after exposure to the air. The tender cuts are fine grained and well marbled with fat. A thick layer of firm, light straw-colored fat extends over the rib and loin cuts. The kidney meat is white and crumbly. Flabby, dark or coarse beef with yellow fat is poor. If it has little fat, it is from an old or underfed creature.

ATHLETIC WOMEN.

Mrs. G. Gilman, an American actress, told a select gathering of ladies at the Women's Institute, at Victoria, that women was not nearly as beautiful as men. She charged them to try to live as beautiful as man. She paid more on some of the daintiness of women. When a woman runs she does it in an agitated manner. Club foot, and people take hold of her ankles and help her up and down things. Until it is an insult practice unless a woman has a wooden leg. There is no reason why woman should walk at a fence as she does. You can walk it easily in a skirt, and it is the easiest and most ladylike way of getting over."—London Mail.

For Heavy Blues.

Where a woman has to get up early to catch a train or make an early start, and there is neither time to get her breakfast to eat a hearty breakfast, try a Boston schoolteacher's expedient of partaking of a cup of coffee into which a raw egg has been dropped. The coffee is stimulating and the egg nourishing, the combination saving much cooking and the washing up of dishes afterward. Workers who have to leave early will find this a simple solution of how to provide the most nourishing food with the least work and time. Chocolate is sometimes substituted for the coffee.

Had you ever thought about what an all around good ticket stands at the head of this column?

The Crittenden Record suffered severely from the terrible fire which recently visited Marion, but made its appearance a little ahead of time last week, somewhat smaller but brimful of news and incidents of the fire.—Evansville Courier.

We would feel ungrateful if we did not express our thanks to the management of the Hopkinsville New Era for the arrangements they have made to publish the Record for us until we get in our new quarters. We also wish to thank the editor of the Princeton Chronicle for offering us the use of his office.

The Crittenden Record, whose plant was destroyed in the big fire at Marion last week, made an extra effort and by having their paper printed in a neighboring city, they did not miss an issue, for which they deserve credit.—Lyon County Times.

The Madisonville Progress is the name of a Republican newspaper just launched at Madisonville, edited and published by J. T. McDonald, formerly of the Princeton Chronicle and later the Hopkinsville Messenger. The paper comes out in the form of a seven column folio, is well edited and shows a splendid patronage on the part of local advertisers.

Section 2: That said franchise or privilege shall continue for a period of twenty (20) years from and after the time the same shall take effect.

Section 4: Said poles, fixtures, cables and wires shall be erected and maintained in a substantial and workmanlike manner, and that said work and equipment shall be modern and up-to-date in all respects, and shall be so located as not to interfere with the legitimate entrance to any adjacent private property, nor to obstruct the free use of the said streets, sidewalks, alleys and public places for the purpose of public travel.

Section 5: The purchaser of said franchise or privilege, his successors or assigns, shall promptly replace all paving and macadamizing that may be disturbed by the said purchaser in setting said poles and shall also, at the purchaser's own expense, remove all dirt and debris that may arise in making excavations for that purpose. A CARD OF THANKS.

I am grateful to indeed my many friends who have so liberally patronized me since the fire. Words cannot express the gratitude I owe. But will show my gratefulness by being the same affable hostess I have been for so many years, and will gladly welcome you at my house just across the street from the jail where you are to Marion. An old adage but true, a friend in need is a friend indeed. I feel I can count my friends by the score. Come to see me when in town. Rept.

Text of the Lesson, John vii, 2-13.
Memory Verses, 2, 3-Golden Text,
Mark xiv, 8—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1895, by American Press Association.]

It is probable that all the events of Luke ix, 51, to xix, 27, intervene between the raising of Lazarus and the supper and the mounting of this lesson in the home at Bethany. Luke omits the record of this supper and mounting and passes right on to the triumphal entry of the next lesson, which is recorded by all four of the evangelists, while only Matthew, Mark and John record the mounting. What a great contrast between the sorrow in this house in the last lesson and this happy gathering with Lazarus alive and well and Jesus Himself in the midst. How the sadness of that occasion be all forgotten in joys of the present one!

Some one has suggested that in Martha, Mary and Lazarus on this occasion we have, if we take them together, a sample of a well rounded Christian life, for we see in Martha's love without anxiety, in Mary's time spent, giving to her Lord heart devotion and a costly offering, and in Lazarus the power of the resurrection. How suggestive the three words, "Table with Him." They vary from II Sam. ix, 7, 10, 11, 13; we see Mephibosheth, all in eating continually at the king's and onward to Luke xxi, 20, "They may eat and drink at my kingdom," and Rev. xvi, 6, are they which are called to marriage supper of the Lamb."

Record in Matthew and Mark

In Bethany is called the Simon the leper, but we are not told whether this Simon was the of these three or the husband who or what relation he was to our Lord. We are told if he was one lepers whom Jesus healed nor was at this time alive. Some day will know the sequel to this, and another Bible story if we need to.

Putting together the records in Matthew, Mark and John, we learn that Mary painted this very precious and very costly ointment on the head of Jesus, and also anointed His feet and wiped them with her hair. The great value of the ointment reminds us of David's words, "Neither will I offer burnt offerings unto the Lord my God of that which doth cost me nothing" (II Sam. xii, 24). What a contrast to the saying of many in connection with the work of the Lord in our day: Why, you can give that or do that and never mind it or not feel it. Well our blessed Lord did not what He did for us, and to him it was very costly. How much of His Spirit have we?

Jesus, the thief (verse 6) who wanted the price of this ointment in the bag for his own use, is called Simon's son and we have seen that this was Simon's house, and although Simon was a common name, and there are many such in the New Testament story, we cannot but wonder if this Judas was the black sheep of this family and does no account for his freedom in finding his way with Mary. A more pertinent question, however, would be Am I a sheep and if so, am I one in need and in name only? There are many called disciples to whom the words might be addressed, "Will a man give his right eye for the gospel?"

Prayer That Is Repented.
But I never did like praying for everything in general and for the universe in particular. In order to be more explicit, we would divide the penitent's prayer under three or four distinct headings. In the first place, I would have you make the prayer, "Return unto me, O Lord, the joy which I experienced when I first began to realize the heights and the depths and the length and the breadth of thy overruling for me. Restore unto me the joy which came to my soul when years ago I first approached the communion table and said, 'Lord, I believe, help thou mine unbelief.' Then the tidal wave of happiness rolled over us in amazement. Then we said to ourselves, 'Saved by grace! Saved by grace!' O God, I thank thee that I have been saved by grace."

Was it a curious fact that at that time we all live too happy and have thanked God that we were saved by grace? Surely we would not treat less generously than we would treat any human being who had rescued us from a threatening danger. When at the battle of Hohenasperg, General Wellington, doing himself before his chief and killed the French who was about to bury his horse in the heart of his emperor Napoleon's gratitude knew no bounds. Thus we feel grateful toward our Master every day. We look with loving eyes toward the skilled surgeon who drove the knife within a brother's forehead of the fatal artery and said, "He saved me." He saved me! We throw our arms with a grateful, convulsive clasp about the neck of the strong swimmer who rescued the waves and swam out to bring us ashore when we were sinking in the surf. We sound forth the praises of the man who leaps forward at the risk of his life and clutches the bridle of our runaway horse and hangs on until the maddest horse stops his wild career even though his own body is bruised by the plunging hoofs. Shall we not be thankful, sincerely and

On our souls were uttome with gratitude for what God had done for us. No sooner were we converted than, like the penitent, we cried out, "Evening and morning, and at noon will I pray and cry aloud, and he shall hear my voice." But after awhile our joyful enthusiasm began to cool. We grew indifferent. We turned our backs upon God. We now find reading the Bible a bore and praying a drudgery and talking to Christ and waiting for Christ to talk to us a task instead of an endless pleasure. Oh, my friends, do you want to feel again the exhilaration which came over you on the day of your conversion? Then make the prayer of my text. Make it day in and day out. Make it and continue to make it as you rehearse all God has done for you by the mercies of Jesus Christ. Oh, that today we could have the thrill which surged through us when we first felt that God had purged us with fire until we were clean, that he had washed us until we were whiter than snow!

Transcendently thankful to God for saving us from the results of our evil deeds and sins? But, strange to say, after the divine rescue has been accomplished our gratitude may cool. It may after awhile change into indifference or even into positive repulsion.

Wrong Kind of Likes.
"Yes," you answer, "I do look upon these religious gatherings as a bore, but I am not responsible for my likes and dislikes any more than I am to be blamed because my favorite color is blue, my favorite flower a carnation, my favorite musician Beethoven, my favorite novelist Thackeray, my favorite artist Rubens and my favorite poet Longfellow or Tennyson. I like what I like and dislike what I dislike, and I cannot help it. Now, if I dislike to associate with the class of people who make up our distinctively religious gatherings, such as are found in the unbaptized society, I am not to blame. I am no more to blame than I am because I dislike codfish or mackerel and like apples and grape fruit."

Ah, yes, my brother, you are to blame. You are individually responsible for your likes and dislikes. If you do not care to associate with Christian people in Christian gatherings, then it is high time that you learned to enjoy their society, and the quicker the better. Because I do not love them now that is no excuse why I should not learn to love these people. Supposing I was a dyspeptic, supposing I had for years been living on lobsters and vent and ham and pork and cabbage and highly seasoned salads and rich pastries, supposing on account of my dyspepsia I was sent to a sanitarium, what would be the first order of my physician? "Put that man on the simplest diet." Because I tell my physician I do not like plain toast and milk and cold bread and good, wholesome breakfasts and potatoe would that make any difference? No. My physician would reply: "Then the sooner you learn to like them the better. You have a diseased appetite. You must develop a healthy appetite for good, wholesome, simple foods."

Supposing I go to a great musical genius like Theodore Thomas, lately translated to the harmonies of heaven, and say: "Mr. Thomas, I want your orchestra to play music that I can sing and understand. Please do not play for me so many of those musical rigmaroles which I cannot grasp." Mr. Thomas would reply: "Young man, if you do not know what good music is, then the sooner you learn it the better. You have a diseased appetite for music. I will develop for you a healthier musical appetite." Then the great mission of Chicago's late musical genius was not so much to render good music as to educate the taste of the people up to the high musical standards when they could appreciate and demand good music. God bless the life's work, well fulfilled, of Theodore Thomas, who taught mankind how to appreciate good music!

Now, my Christian friend, by the same law you may have a diseased spiritual appetite for spiritual association. If you cannot find enjoyment in communion with Christian people, then the sooner you learn how to enjoy their society the better. You are exactly in the position of the friendless girl or the disappointed boy growing up in a Christian home. Such children are never happy unless they are off at some party or visiting some neighbor or attending some theater. But after awhile they will find that the sweet, gentle fellowship of a Christian home offers the best kind of enjoyment. The quiet reading of a book by the glowing hearth in the sitting room is one. The lovingress of a mother's or a wife's hand is another. The playful prattle of a little child, the quiet prayer, the sweet memories of long years that are past, are others. The hopes of the years to come, being talked over, offer the highest joys this side of heaven. O man, do not think that associating with men of the world offers to you the name of pleasure. If you cannot find any enjoyment in the fellowship of Christian people, then the sooner by the grace of God you kill your diseased spiritual appetite the better for your own enjoyment and the better for your life.

Learned to Love Music.

That you can govern your love for the good and your dislike for the bad or the indifferent was illustrated to me by the experience of a lady member of my church who is a very fine musician. Her brother was a happy go lucky young man who seemed to have no ear for good music. Every popular air, every music hall jingle, every negro melody that had a jolly ring to it, he knew by heart. All the noted songs he could sing until the very rafters echoed. But the deeper, sweeter, holier calls of the great musical masters fell unheeded upon his dull ears. This brother, who was a fine athlete, had his leg broken and was brought home from college and had to lie in bed for about six weeks. During those six weeks his sister had to continually practice for a difficult performance which she was about to give before a famous musical society of the city. At first the brother protested. He wanted to hear her play some of the popular airs. But as the language of the musical masters kept pouring their thoughts into his mind and heart through the vestibule of his O God, make me again love church services and the prayer meetings and the missionary gatherings and the convention of the young people of the Christian Endeavorers and Epworth Leagues and the Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip! O God, may I desire to associate with thy disciples more than to go with any other class of people on earth!" You think this is a strange prayer to make? I do not. When I make it, I know that one of the surest signs of the true Christian life is to be found in the desire of a Christian to be where other Christians are. Yet, if I mistake not, some of you never go to the midweek prayer meetings or to Sunday schools or to our cottage prayer meetings. You look upon these meetings as a bore, a drudgery, a tiresome hour, wasted for duty's sake. When you go to these meetings you do so under protest.

Wrong Kind of Likes.

But in order to fully grasp the beauty of the penitent's prayer you must remember that it is given with the absolute knowledge that in his own strength he was nothing, but that in God's strength he could be everything. David at this time was standing under the shadows of his past sins. God had blessed him again and again, yet just after these many manifestations of the divine love he had fallen back into sin because he had depended upon his own strength. Thus David says, "Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation" unless by constant association with Christian people do you in your power to develop that spiritual joy.

But the greatest enemy to beauty is temper. The woman with a bad temper is by no means the worst woman in the world. She often has a very kind heart and a very strict conscience. Her temper itself sometimes lets so many of her evil thoughts out through her tongue that her nature is, after all, quite sweet and kind. But nevertheless the fever of temper that burns within her does its work on her constitution. It shows itself, too, in the deep wrinkles just above her nose, the long lines at the side of her mouth and in the drooping mouth itself.

The woman who is always nursing her wrongs wrings herself more than anybody else could have wrung her. The evil, bitter thoughts within her shut out the bright ones that might come and make her bad company. But, worse still, they have a direct physical effect upon her system. Nothing can so ruin one's digestion as flying into a tantrum at the dinner table. The food taken in will not assimilate, and the appetite is lost. The heart is affected and the circulation is retarded. The nerves are so wrought up by a constant series of twitches that the woman with a temper is invariably a thin, emaciated little thing.

The best way to cure had temper is first to convince yourself that you are not really being wronged. Once you have got in tune with the world and feel quite certain that the universe is better ordered than you could order it you will cease expecting to reform the rest of your fellow men and thus be saved lots of disappointment.

If you can cure your temper in another way, simply run and glance in the looking glass while you are in the midst of it. That should cure you.—New York Press.

A POTATO SALAD.

The Way a Perfect One Was Quickly Tossed Together.

A potato salad, to be a success, should be, as it were, the inspiration of the moment, showing no signs of premeditation. To marinate the potatoes in stock or French dressing and serve with a carefully prepared mayonnaise robs it of its character and individuality. If a salad possesses such attributes, The best salad the writer ever tasted was tossed together by a clever woman. A long thin wheel brought home two hungry women.

Among other entrees yielded up by the refrigerator were two hard-boiled eggs and some cold boiled potatoes, cooked in their jackets, as they should be for a properly constructed salad. They were peeled and thinly sliced. Into a cooking cup were put a little mild vinegar and a morsel of chopped onion. Some months ago this little girl was in a boarding institute in one of our large eastern cities. By this institution she was sent west and put into a low Mexican home of ignorance and poverty. Broken hearted were my friend and his dear wife. The cry of their agonizing hearts was, "O God, give us a little girl!" And God gave them a little daughter, not of their own flesh and blood, however, but a little girl who came out of a hovel of poverty and filth and sin.
